Description

A classic Moab trail that combines slickrock climbing, ledge obstacles, and expansive views over the Colorado River canyon into one of the area's most rewarding runs. The trail features a steady mix of technical rock sections, sandy washes, and iconic Moab "fins," with multiple optional lines that can increase the challenge. Highlights include steep slickrock ascents, shelf roads, and scenic overlooks that make it just as memorable for the views as the driving. Popular and often busy, it's a great representation of Moab wheeling—technical enough to stay engaging without reaching the extreme level of the hardest trails in the area. This is the published Red Rock 4-Wheelers route and does not include connectors with Golden Spike.
